

Newton Watercolor Society Application

The NWS meets from 10am-noon on the second Saturday of every month (check the NWS website [www.newtonwatercolorociety.org] in case of changes). If the weather is good, we plan outdoor, plein air painting sessions at some location in Newton or the local area. If the weather is poor, we meet inside to watch a watercolor video. During the winter months, we arrange live demonstrations by some accomplished local watercolorist.

In June, we arrange for week-long workshops by some master watercolorist like Charles Reid (June 2010) or Mel Stabin (June 2011). NWS members get an opportunity to sign up for these workshops before they are announced to the public.
